

The SYNLAB group is one of the leading companies in the field of laboratory medicine in Europe. We offer comprehensive medical laboratory services from local laboratories and national competence centres. The international SYNLAB network comprises around 20,000 employees in 37 countries. For our laboratory in Ticino we are looking for 1 competent and motivated person as:

Specialist in Clinical Microbiology at 70%

Permanent contract

Reference-Nr. 8595

Tasks

- Biological validation and interpretation of Microbiology results
- Drafting of reports and communication of results to physician-customers
- Communication of information and advice on analyses to physician-customers
- Handling of complaints and problems in the field
- Updating and continuously proposing improvements and new analyses to the direct superior
- Active participation in continuous training of departmental staff
- Validation of new diagnostic methods and management of the quality system in its area
- Management of internal and external quality controls
- Co-operation with colleagues in the Microbiology laboratory, according to need and expertise
- Compliance with and application of the quality system, SYNLAB guidelines
- Respect for professional secrecy
- Participation in on-call duty if required.
- Use of the laboratory computer system
- Application in continuing education by reading scientific publications, attending scientific congresses and participation in external quality controls

Requirements

- Biologist or doctor with specialization in clinical microbiology accompanied by professional experience. FAMH qualification in Clinical Microbiology is an advantage.
- Many years of experience in Clinical Microbiology
- Flexible, reliable personality, ability to work independently and in a team
- Responsible, customer-oriented, planning and scientifically oriented behaviour
- Knowledge of German or French is an advantage Italian mother tongue or very fluent

Your future

- Stimulating and varied activity
- Pleasant working environment in a dynamic and motivated team
- Continuous training

START DATE: august 2023

We look forward to receiving your application with photo and reference number by email to federica.dellaporta@synlab.com

